Summary

My current field of work is in digital public relations, with a focus on tech-influenced startups in the mobile, software-as-a-service (cloud), children/family, consumer and fitness industries.

Career experience includes blogger outreach, traditional media outreach, ghost writing, social media marketing, infographic design, graphic design (print and digital), web design, strategy and analytics, and overall research.

I'm also part of a few side-projects that allow me to explore my love for web design, graphic design and photography by freelance.
